

Saba has been chosen as the third grade student of the month. She is a wonderful student who works hard each and every day. Saba gives her best effort on every challenge that she comes across. Additionally, I can always count on Saba to participate during our lessons. She is someone who always contributes to group and partner tasks. Her eagerness to learn is reflected in the quality of work she completes. Not only is Saba a role model in the classroom with her academics and learning behavior, but also in the way that she interacts with others. She is kind and considerate to all in her school community. She is always willing to lend a helping hand to a friend in need. Her teachers and classmates are very proud of her.
